MINE VOTE FAVORABLE

Valley Miners to Accept Scale if They Have Their Way

COUNTY IS TABULATED

National Organizer William Feeney Gives Figures of Vote of Many Locals

According to National Organizer William Feeney of Charleroi, the referendum vote taken by miners of this vicinity on last Tuesday shows a good majority in favor of accepting the scale proposed by the policy committee of District No. 5. All mines with the exception of the Crescent mine at California, Black Diamond mine at Black Diamond and Arnold No. 2 mine at Fayette City voted favorably to the scale in the fourth pool. These figures mean that but three out of 34 mines voted against the proposition. Factional elements at the Black Diamond and Crescent mines arising it is claimed from soreness at the defeat of their candidates at the last election were responsible for their vote going against the scale.

The vote tabulated by Organizer Feeney follows:

	For	Against
Charleroi mine	108	16
East Charleroi	47	44
Bluebird	45	11
Tremont	53	48
Pricedale No. 1	84	27
Pricedale No. 2	44	34
Jute, Fayette City	78	18

PETITIONS ARE PRESENTED FOR THREE HIGHWAYS

Petitions were presented to the court Friday for the improvement of three roads in the county. They will be laid before the next grand jury Monday. The roads proposed to be improved, all with brick, are as follows:

Venetia-Library road, beginning at a point on the Finleyville-Thomas brick road, near John Rainey's and thence north for a distance of 15,170 feet to the Allegheny county line, near Library. The estimated costs, including ten per cent of incidentals, is $78,452.

County home road beginning at a county bridge over Chartiers creek at Arden, thence by way of the County home to the McClane farm to the improved county road near McClane's station on the Washington & Canonsburg trolley line, a distance of 6,000 feet, all in Chartiers township. The estimated costs is $29,786.90, which

Some Salaries To Still Hold

But They Are Not Those of Lower Paid Office Men on the Pennsylvania Lines

Agitation has been occasioned on the Pennsylvania Railroad by a reduction of wages ten per cent which has gone into effect during the week. This reduction in wages applies only to the clerks and subordinate employees. The division freight agents and their chief clerks, as well as superior officers of the high salaried classes are all exempted and will continue to draw their comfortable monthly allowances.

The clerks who suffer this cut have the option of accepting 10 per cent less, or else take a furlough of four days each month without pay.

LOCAL COUPLES GET DIVORCES AT WASHINGTON

Decrees Handed Down by Judge Irwin Effectually Separating Mismatched

Judge Irwin handed down decrees Friday granting nine divorces and refusing three. This disposes of all 30 have been disposed of. Twenty-five have been granted and five refused. Of the five refused two were really held up on account of defects in the record and when amended will probably be granted.

The court absolutely refuses the divorce in the suit of George Landrin against Mary L. Landrin of Charleroi. He charged her with cruel and barbarous treatment. The court reviews the testimony and fails to find corroborative facts to establish the claim of the libellant. The court says that "It is sufficient to say that it wholly fails to establish any ground for a divorce. It therefore follows that the proceedings must be dismissed."

Another case from Charleroi was that of Rachel Alice Fellows, who was granted a divorce from her husband, Thomas H. Fellows. Cruel and barbarous treatment is alleged.

PARTY IS GIVEN AT NORTH CHARLEROI

One of the pleasant week end social events at North Charleroi Friday evening was a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Foulks on Fourth street. The affair was quietly arranged by Mrs. Hiram Foulks, and the first intimation the host and hostess had of the event was when 45 of their friends suddenly invaded the Foulk home and proceeded to spend a most pleasant evening. A dainty lunch had been prepared by the ladies present, which was served at 11 o'clock.

POLITICAL MATTERS TAKE QUEER TREND

Effort Being Made by Friends of Congressman Temple to Get His Name on Republican Ticket--Other Developments Looked For

The circulation of petitions at Monongahela Friday for the signature to place the name of Henry W. Temple, the present congressman, on the Republican ticket, puts a new phase in the campaign. Mr. Temple was elected as a Progressive on the Washington ticket, and is a candidate for re-election on the same ticket. The action of his friends in seeking to place his name on the Republican ticket is somewhat of a surprise, as it is hardly to be expected that he could win the Republican nomination as well as the Washington party nomination. It is probable, however, that a counter move may be made by the Republicans and opponents of Mr. Temple in the district, and that the names of at least one of the Republican candidates for congress may be placed on the Washington ticket.

Thus far the Republican candidates for congress in the district are former Lieutenant Governor William Brown of New Castle, and Charles H. Stone of Beaver.

Another significant move at Washington has been the circulation of petitions to place the names of Assemblymen Post and Carson, the Demo-

LOCAL HOME TALENT PLAY WILL BE GIVEN

The cast of characters for the production of the home talent play, "A Night Off" to be given on Monday and Tuesday evenings at the High school auditorium under the auspices of and for the benefit of St. Jerome's Lyceum, includes some of the best known amateur thespians of this vicinity. James S. Russell, a former professional actor and director is to direct the production. The cast of characters will be as follows:

Prof. Martin Goldwinney, James Hemmigan.
Mrs. Sophronia Goldwinney, Miss Cecelia McDermott.
Spartan Spurgus Spotts, leading heavy, manager, etc., James S. Russell.
Jack Harkins, whose non de plume is Emil Hawkins, Frank Buchanan.
Dr. Leopold Newman, J. B. G. Roberts.
Mrs. Newman, Mrs. Goldwinney's daughter, Mrs. Anna Russell.
Paula, another daughter, Miss Amelia Patrick.
Mr. Hawkins, a lawyer, J. K. Rickety.
Rose, a maid servant, Mrs. Willis McCook.

There will be a number of specialties given. James Buchanan will appear as a cartoonist, Oliver and Ray will present a singing, dancing and squirrel food act and the high tide quartet consisting of Walter Urban, Frank Miller, Nick Phillips and Mark Wheeler will sing.

Local Circle Wins Contest

Protected Home Circles End Campaign For New Members Here and at Donora

Charleroi Circle No. 303 Protected Home Circle was pronounced a winner in a membership contest with the Donora circle on Friday night by 14 members. The contest has been in progress for some time with a flag being offered as a reward. News of the victory was received during the regular meeting by Mrs. M. J. Crickett, local deputy, from W. R. Stark, state deputy at Sharpsburg. Charleroi won by 14 members. Charleroi Circle will now have 509 members. The flag will be presented about May 15. After the meeting Friday night a literary program was rendered. A feature was an address on charity and fraternal work by Dr. H. J. Reppman.

DEATH CAUSED BY AN INJURY OF LAST FALL

Former Monessen Young Woman the Second Victim of Ohio Tragedy

Word was received Friday announcing the death of Alma Push at the home of her mother, near North Jackson Ohio. The girl was the daughter of John Push and was the victim of a tragedy last fall in which she was shot by her father in the spine and was so badly injured that she was confined to her bed until death relieved her of her suffering.

The father after crippling the girl pointed the weapon upon himself, instantly ending his life. The family formerly resided in Monessen where for several years they conducted a milk business. The funeral will take place Sunday afternoon from the Push home near North Jackson, Ohio.

CANDIDATES MAKE THEIR ANNOUNCEMENTS

Republican candidates for assembly who have either announced definitely or are considering the matter are Dr. J. Add Sprowls of Donora, H. R. Myers and G. P. Baker of Washington, Patrick Acton of Allen township and Dr. J. A. Letherman of California. For senate John Hallam of Washington has thus far had a clear field as a Republican candidate.

BASEBALL PASS TO BE GIVEN TO SOME ONE

CLUB ENDS ITS SEASON

Final Meeting of Athene Club Women Held on Friday

LUNCHEON IS FEATURE

'Absentees' Entertain at Home of Mrs. Faddis - Auxiliary to be Formed

With the side entertaining that during the season had had the most absentees the final meeting of the Athene club for the year was held Friday afternoon. Mrs. T. M. Faddis entertained at her home on Washington avenue. The feature of the entertainment furnished by the hostesses was a luncheon.

For the occasion the Faddis home was prettily decorated in green and white. Spring flowers were charmingly used in the decorations. The room where the luncheon was held was lighted by candles.

The luncheon was largely informal, and there was no toastmistress. During the serving of the various courses selections by Italian singers and reciters were rendered on a Victrola. This was in keeping with the program of study of Italy during the year.

The regular meeting followed. Reports of club matters were given by the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Earl E. Piper and the treasurer, Mrs. R. C. Mountser. One associate member was elected, Mrs. W. H. Mulliken.

It was decided to organize a musical auxiliary and a committee to consist of Mrs. George W. Cooper, Mrs. L. E. Piper, Mrs. Vivian P. Stewart and Mrs. T. M. Faddis was named to look after preliminaries pertaining to the formation of such an auxiliary. The musical auxiliary will be a branch of the Athene club. A program committee for the ensuing year was named to consist of Mrs. J. C. Enos, Mrs. A. R. Mountser and Mrs. C. R. Peregrine. No delegates were named to attend the State Federation of Women's clubs, owing to the fact that it will be held in Pittsburgh and every member possible will attend.

The season just closed has been one of the most successful the Athene club ever enjoyed. With Italy as the subject practically all the papers assigned were given and those that were missed were missed with good reason. The attendance at the meetings was large and particular interest was taken in the discussions.

The study of Italy will be continued yet another season and the program committee will make out a season's program taking up a new line of discussion under this head. The officers for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. Thomas G. Brown; first vice president, Mrs. Vivian P. Stewart; second vice president, Mrs. T. M. Faddis; recording secretary, Mrs. Charles S. Van Voorhis; corresponding secretary, Mrs. George W. Cooper; treasurer, Mrs. R. C. Mountser.

UTILIZING BOROUGH PROPERTY

Over at Washington, the county seat, it is proposed to utilize a part of a structure owned by the borough for a comfort station, a place where out of town visitors and shoppers can find rest, conveniences and comfort without cost while in the town. This is one of the inconveniences that transient visitors invariably encounter while making a shopping or business trip to a town; they have no place to even sit down and rest or to leave purchases and parcels temporarily without hiring a room at a hotel or imposing on the good nature of some store or restaurant keeper. The comfort station is a modern innovation, of the same nature as a well equipped railway station, only it is maintained for the public and at public expense.

The comfort station idea has found favor in Charleroi, and a committee in council was recently appointed to inquire into the matter. It is presumed that the chief difficulty encountered is the question of a suitable place and the cost of maintenance. To rent and equip an expensive room in the business center of the town and pay for its maintenance, would be rather an expensive proposition at the present time. The example of Washington, however, in utilizing borough property for the purpose minimizes the expense, and with the project of a new municipal building for Charleroi under way, the provision of a comfort station in connection with borough property is worth considering. There is no question, but what it would be a good investment for the town, and that its provision would add materially to the trade drawing qualities of Charleroi.

NO STRIKE

Very sensibly the coal miners have voted to return to work under the old scale pending certain local adjustments of grievances and claims in various communities. When it became apparent that a new interstate agreement could not be made, the leaders of the miners' organization counseled moderation and a continuation under the old scale, leaving it to each district to adjust its own grievances and claims. This order was not generally obeyed in the Pittsburg district, where a disaffected element sought to rebel and withdraw from the organization.

A couple of week's idleness, however, has cooled the order of the insurgents, and they rescinded their action for the time being, to withdraw from the parent organization and form a new union. It was apparent in all the districts that the time for a general strike to enforce new demands was not propitious and the men have intified by a referendum vote the action of their leaders in counseling a return to work. There will be no general strike this year if the present sentiment continues, and the industrial situation, which is improving generally will suffer no handicap from that cause this season.

ELECTRIC SPARKS

The funny part of it is how a Congressman considering candidacy for re-election can figure how it will do him much good in his own constituency for him to lecture clear at the other end of the country.

The Arkansan who started a campaign with $3 and ended with $30 profit and a Missouri mule is the kind of financier the Federal league needs.

Some of the politicians are getting into church, but it remains to be seen whether the church gets into them.

Up in Fairhance council decided it wasn't legal for a "rube band" to parade without a license. Yet most "rube bands" take the license and make the parade in an all in one act.

Some things tend to indicate that Huerta has a smattering of brains, as for instance his decision to apologize to the United States.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"President Wilson's action in sending the fleet down to Mexico to make Huerta, the ostensible president, comply with Admiral Mayo's mandate to salute our flag to atone for fancied insults, reminds me of when I was a small boy attending the district school," remarked a Charleroi citizen.
"There a custom was prevalent where the big boys would compel a small boy caught under certain conditions to 'whistle or crow'. If the small boy complied with the order he was allowed to go scot free, but if he refused he got badly heckled.

"Sometimes when a small boy was easy the order would be to both 'whistle and crow'. This was added humiliation, and usually resulted in rebellion and heckling of the victim.

"Now our admiral has demanded of Huerta that he apologize and salute our flag for some affronts that are construed to be national. In other words, Mr. Huerta must both 'whistle and crow'. Huerta apologized but wouldn't salute. He whistled all right but refused to crow. We propose to make him crow even if we have to shed rivers of blood and spend millions of dollars. Only a 'crow' from Huerta now would avert war.

Last fall when a couple of prominent Charleroi business men started for New York to witness the world's series of ball games, they fell in with a bunch from the county seat some of whom conveyed the idea that they were dead game sports. They talked vaguely of big wagers on the result, and were sort of patronizing generally. Finally the Charleroi men took a hand. When the bunch was assembled in the smoking compartment one of the Charleroi men said carelessly to the other:

"Match you for fifty."

"All right," replied the other.

A coin was produced and the one who lost produced a fat roll, skinned off $50 in yellow backed bills and handed to the other, who pocketed it nonchalantly.

Later in the afternoon, when the party had congregated at a table in the smoking room of the hotel in New York the Charleroi man had lost the $50 casually remarked to the other:

"Match you for a hundred."

"All right," was the careless response.

This time the loser in the first matching contest won, and his companion, producing a big roll, counted out $100 and handed it to his companion, who wadded it up and tacked it into his pocket as though it were change from the cigar stand.

"Great Scott!" ejaculated one of the Washington crowd. I never can travel with that Charleroi bunch.
They're too fast for me."

Later when the Charleroi men were alone outside the one who had won the $100 handed $50 back to the other and each had his own money again.

DROVE THE CAT TO SUICIDE

Representative Probably Did a Little

Policeman's Story.

"Alfalfa Bill" Murray, representative from Oklahoma, made a tour of Washington a short time ago with a party of friends. In due time they reached the Washington monument and the Oklahoma statesman told at length of the beauties of the shaft.

At the close of his peroration, Alfalfa Bill mopped his brow and turned genially to a minion of the low nearby
"How about it," asked he; "isn't that some little talk on this ancient pile of masonry?"

"You forgot about the cat," replied that official, imperturbably.

"What cat?"

"The brindled cat of 1896."

"Well, what about him?" queried Representative Murray.

"Oh, nothing," replied the guard, evasively.

"See here," said Mr. Murray, sternly, "I demand to know about this cat."

"It ain't much of a story," replied the guard. "Your talking there reminded me of it. Y'see this here cat lived in the monument. Well, sir, me and another chap that used to be here noticed that cat acting queerly every time a party came along and was told about the beauties of 'this vast pile of masonry,' as you was saying.

"Then one day along came a gent with some friends and talked for three-quarters of an hour along this line, when blamed if that there cat didn't run all the way up 500 odd feet of steps and commit suicide by jumping off the top of the monument!"—

SURELY COULD ASK NO MORE

Clever Frenchman Had Done What He Promised, According to Testimony of His Fair Clients.

A wily Frenchman, whose rogueries gave him an unsavory notoriety throughout the town in which he lived, at one time claimed to have discovered a specific for the rejuvenes-cence of women, and, by means of sensational advertising, he succeeded in gathering a clientele of 40 or 50 old dames, who were assembled, on a certain day, in a room tricked out with astrological symbols, crucifixes, ambles, and all the paraphernalia of charlatanism.

The conjurer presented himself before the ladies, and addressed them in flamboyant language, ending as follows:

"And now, señoras of my soul, it is needful that the mystic ceremonies before us be opened by the eldest one among you."

Then, addressing her whose appearance seemed to indicate priority, he asked her age. "Thirty-seven years, senor," simpered the beldame, who was, at least, in the seventh decade.
"And you, senora?" "Thirty-six." And so on, until he had them down to a declared age of twenty years, with a maximum of thirty-seven.

"Well, ladies all, you perceive that, without further proceedings the miracle is accomplished," said Otavio;
"for the least gallant of men could not call her aught but young whose years are but thirty-seven—and you see for yourselves that is the age of the oldest among you!"

Iceland's Own Flag

A much-valued concession to Icelandic national pride has been made by King Christian of Denmark. For some years the islanders have been agitating to be allowed the use of their own flag—which is blue and white, as distinguished from the Danish colors, red and white, and they have at last gained their wish. Mr.
Hannes Hafstein, the minister for Iceland, visits Denmark several times yearly, in order to get the signature of the king to the laws passed by the althing. On the last occasion he carried with him a petition for the use of the flag of Iceland, and this was granted by royal resolution, which permits the blue and white flag to be hoisted together with the Danish flag on public buildings on official occasions. It also allows the use of the special flag on the territorial waters of Iceland.

Friendly Warning

The young Englishwoman had become very fond of American seaside botanis, with their rockers and cool piazas, but in one respect she was critical. The story is told in the Wide World Magazine.

"If only they would clean our boots once in awhile," she cried, "instead of leaving us out to have a 'ten-cent shine' at a 'shoe parlor!' I have left my shoes outside my door every night for a week, and they have not been touched."

Her new acquaintance looked at her a few moments pityingly, and cleared his throat. "I am afraid," he said,
"you can hardly count on finding such honesty everywhere."

She Was No Easy Mark

Martha is seven, and has shown more than ordinary childish aversion to learning lessons, being washed and having curls made smooth and shiny, and less than the average delight in fairy-tales.

One day upon her return from Sunday school she was questioned as to what she had learned from her nice teacher this time. She cried out with flashing eyes and an indignant toss of her pretty head. "Why, mamma; my teacher told me today that story about the Children of Israel waiting across the Red sea and not getting their shoes wet one single bit—and she expected me to believe it!"

Advertising

THERE once was an assumption that men who advertised were fraudulent in their intents, hence arose the idea that advertising was unethical and this fallacy still obtains in the traditions of a few certain societies and professions.

COMMONSENSE people all now recognize the value of letting the public know who you are, and what you have to offer in the world in the way of commodity or service.

WHEN we speak of advertising we speak of the most powerful force that acts today in the world of business.

THE American people form by all odds the best educated and most open-minded public in the world. All they want is the truth, and when get that, they act clearly, logically and some times with surprising speed.

THE public wants to know the facts. It wants the facts about a kind of shoe or a brand of flour. It wants to know the kind of stuff that goes into a suit of clothes or a package of crackers.

The One Thing Above All Others The Public Demands is Publicity

IT has learned to be very skeptical about any fact that occurs in the dark.

DO not keep your light under a bushel and create the opinion that you are no longer in business. Let the people know what you have to offer to them.

JOKE CLEARLY ON LANDLORD

Tenant's Somewhat Mean Way of Getting His Contract for New York Flat Broken.

One owner of a big apartment house in New York learned a new trick to his sorrow. He did not mind the money loss as much as the neat way he "fell for it" led by the artful tenant.

It seems a man who had signed a year's lease on an apartment in this place bought a house at the beginning of the summer and wanted to move into it, but knew that the landlord could hold him to his contract if the flat was vacated. So he said nothing, but went to work effectively.

One Sunday morning about five, just when every one was enjoying his best nap, a huge machine for canned music began operations in this wicked man's flat. Coon songs, ragtime, Irish rows, everything which would set the nerves on edge ground out in an ear-splitting noise that vibrated through the building. Tenants turned over, swore, got up and went to the telephone to call the landlord. Hot and heavy came in the complaints and the poor man rushed down to the apartment.

Dashing up to the room from which came the avalanche of sound, he was admitted.

"What in the name of the sacred codfish do you mean by kicking up all this racket on Sunday morning and rousing every one from sleep?" he demanded of the tenant of the offending flat.

"Well," replied the flat man with a provoking smile, "I guess it is my flat, and the law says I can do as I wish in my own house."

"This is not your house," roared the landlord, "and I wish you to clear out at once."

"Certainly," replied the flat man, "I will move tomorrow. You are breaking the contract yourself. Many thanks—I have just bought a home in the suburbs."

REALLY USED COTTON BALES

Popular Idea Concerning Battle of New Orleans Has Been Found to Be Correct.

Interest in the slumbering cotton-bale theory of the battle of New Orleans was aroused by the finding of a water-color picture map of the original battle plan in an abandoned trunk in the cellar of the St. Charles hotel. Little is known about the drawing or the other contents of the trunk which has remained unnoticed for years in a dark corner.

Five veterans of the battle have added their signatures to the remarkable map to attest the fact that it is a true representation of the battle plan as made under the direction of Andrew Jackson by his military engineer, H. Laclotte. It shows a line of cotton bales which a marginal note says was 1,000 feet long with a prolongment extending 600 feet into the woods. Some historians deny the story about the use of cotton bales.

The live veterans who say they fought behind cotton bales were Joseph St. Cyr, Jean Lamothe, P. M. Lapice, Charles Raymond and Jean Gervais. Pen pictures of these men appear in the footnotes.

The finding of the picture is timely, says the New Orleans item, as it will be of service for the staging of the battle, which is to be one of the leading features of the Exposition of Big Ideas.

Styles and Men.

This is—well let's say amusing—this dictate of fashion that men must wear in 1914 clinging garments—isn't it? Because some of us must either adopt pads or endure the mockery of the masses while parading in the guise of human scarecrows or Punch and Judy shows—if clinging duds do master masculinity. And some of us will lose one large subject of conversation and laughter, for we won't any longer be able to criticize the garments of our sisters, wives and affinites. If any one consideration can do more than another to prevent the general adoption of tight styles for men this loss of critical opportunity is likely to be the thing. Isn't it? It never will do to give ladies an opportunity to turn the batteries of laughter on the masculine half of humanity. Will it? Of course a compromise may be arranged—but compromises seldom wear well, do they?—Detroit Free Press.

Tax on Windows.

If the tax on doors and windows disappears in France with the new fiscal reform, the archaeologists, say the Paris papers, will not regret it, for it was more than an artistic misdeed. When it was created more than a century ago the taxpayers, especially in the provinces, sought to diminish the imposed tax. Little rural windows were made out of the "grandes bourgeoisies," and there was much talk of the detriment to art and health thereby. Today in replastering the walls of ancient edifices there are often discovered magnificent windows often of the renaissance covered in whole or in part, the mullions have been broken and the damage is irreparable. This was one incident in the window tax that the legislators of the revolutionary period certainly did not foresee.—Indianapolis News.

Promoters.

Thomas W. Lawson, at a dinner in Boston, said of promoters: "Virtue is its own reward, but generosity is the thing to yield big profits. Why hundreds of men become multi-millionaires just by generously looking up good things for other people to invest in, while keeping religiously out of them themselves."

WENT TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES

Fast Amounts of British Capital Invested in Colonies and in North America.

Take first the capital supplied to the colonies for the development of their railways, their oil fields, their rubber plantations, their agriculture. We all remember the political catchword of "capital going abroad," and the campaign against British investments, organized and controlled by the unionist party, remarks the London Chronicle. The unionist leaders and the unionist ex-chancellor of the exchequer solemnly told the country that money was safer abroad than at home, and there is no doubt that the investing classes, which are largely unionist, took their word for it and did invest abroad. Believing that Diaz, Madero or Huerta was a safer guide than Campbell-Bannerman, Asquith or Lloyd George, they neglected everything English and subscribed for anything foreign—a policy that they may bitterly repent today.

The result of this attitude in England was great activity in the new undeveloped countries. In the capital market, when the tap is working easily, some one is sure to be there with a bucket, and foreign borrowers did take money from London in bucketfuls. Exactly how much has been subscribed in the last few years no one can say, but the Economist figures, which are the most conservative of all the published statistics, place the amount of new capital publicly raised in England during the last five years at £1,014,609,000—one thousand millions in five years in advertised prospectuses alone! Of this sum by far the greater part has gone to British colonies and South America, Canada alone taking nearly £200,000,000 and Argentina nearly £100,000,000.

LONDON TO HONOR FRANKLIN

Movement to Set Up Statue of Philosopher in Chapel Where He Worked as Printer.

Few London people would connect romance with the name of Benjamin Franklin, but there is a chance that he may be commemorated in the most romantic of England's few medieval churches, St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield.

Some one has discovered from the parish rate books that he once worked at the case in an office housed in his day in the Lady Chapel of the church. Franklin records that he was employed on setting up the second edition of Woolaston's "Religion of Nature" and in that book there is a quaint little engraving showing the top floor of the factory with the compositors' racks.

The ports of these racks were still there in 1835 before the Lady Chapel was cleared of its workaday fittings and prepared for worship again.

In the wall over the Lady Chapel altar (and in Franklin's day actually in the printing room) are five tall niches, probably filled with figures of saints before the Reformation. It is now proposed to commemorate Franklin by placing one or more "female saints" in these niches.

Poor, But Proud.

A lady who is a district visitor became much interested in a very poor but apparently respectable Irish family named Curran living on the top floor of a great building in a slum district of her parish.

Every time she visited the Currans she was annoyed by the staring and the whispering of the other women living in the building. One day she said to Mrs. Curran:

"Your neighbors seem very curious to know who and what I am and the nature of my business with you."

"They do," acquiesced Mrs. Curran.

"Do they ask you about it?"

"Indeed they do, ma'am."

"And do you tell them?"

"Faith, thin Oi do not."

"What do you tell them?"

"Oi just tell them," was the calm reply, "that ye are me dressmaker, an' let it go at that."—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

Washington's Return Home.

On December 4, 1882, Washington bade farewell to his officers in New York and rowed across the Hudson to New Jersey, thence proceeding to Philadelphia. There he handed to the proper officers a statement of the money he had spent out of his own pocket after he took command of the army more than eight years before in Cambridge. The amount was $34,315. For his services during that time he refused any pay. When he reached Annapolis, where congress was sitting, he resigned as commander in chief of the army, and proceeded to Mt. Vernon, where he had been but once during the eight years and a half.

Lawyers' Favorite Indoor Sport.

"As to the question of good faith that has been raised here, that has no bearing whatever," declared one of the lawyers for the "taxpayers" who are trying to enjoin the Hyde case prosecution. And possibly he spoke correctly. More and more the element of "good faith" is ceasing to be a factor. Many attorneys regard the administration of law as an indoor sport—a duel of wits between Artemus Quibble and Erasmus K. Snitch.—Kansas City Star.

Fixed Furniture.

It is now considered desirable to have much of the furniture built in to save buying. This also preserves a consistent decorative scheme. In the construction of houses brick is given renewed consideration because of its excellent decorative possibilities.

EUROPE LOSING ITS CHARM

Mr. Brown Didn't Enjoy His Thirtieth Visit—Tips and High Prices Paid.

Almost every summer since 1877 Alexander P. Brown of Philadelphia has been spending in Europe, it being his custom to go abroad in the late spring and then to find his way back in October. When Mr. Brown landed recently he had completed his thirtieth trip to the other side, says the New York Sun.

Yet I found this summer I did not enjoy Europe as I once did," said Mr. Brown at the Waldorf. "Everything has changed so much, and that mainly in the last few years. When I came away the hotel proprietors were spending lots of money in the belief that there were still Americans somewhere in Europe or headed that way, but they are mistaken. Most of the Americans who went abroad in the spring or summer have come home. Most of them who had been in the habit of going abroad stayed a shorter time this year than usual.

"Switzerland had the call on all travel last summer, as always. But Switzerland and the Swiss have changed much. In the first place, prices have gone up. It is no longer easy to find the modest hotel where, for a small sum, you can live on the best in the land, and there are many new modern hotels with modern prices. In fact, the prices in Switzerland seem to be on a par with those of the higher priced hotels in London, Paris and New York. Then, it was a bad summer in Switzerland for weather. What with continuous rains and snow ahead of time, visitors got rheumatism. And as for the number of visitors to the country this summer, why, there were at one time 400,000 foreigners scattered over the area tributary to Lucerne, Interlaken and Zurich. Yet many hotels over there went bankrupt.

"Paris has been woefully dirty all the season. They don't begin to keep the streets in as good condition as is done in New York. Why, I believe that without any exaggeration the Place Vendome must have in it 1,000 holes, which would break the leg of any horse that would step into one, and practically only the thoroughfares that go to make up the Grand boulevard are in good condition."

PUPILS UNDERGO ODD TUITION

Peculiar Schools in Europe for the Teaching of What Might Be Called "Trades."

In St. Petersburg there is an institution where young men training for service as police make a special study of the tools used by professional thieves. There is a class devoted solely to the study of forgery, with particular reference to the falsifying of signatures on passports.

At Monte Carlo a school for croupiers is conducted. During the summer months aspirants for the office of croupier learn the operations of the gaming tables. Each pupil must, from time to time, while others are impersonating players and making wagers, conduct the game and learn how instantly to pay out the winning stake. Six months' tuition is generally necessary.

In Brussels there is a school for the instruction of grave diggers. All candidates for appointment as sextons throughout Belgium must pass an examination at this school before they can obtain employment as grave diggers.

Hawk Swooped on Hunter.

A large hawk attacked J. S. Spicer of Fredericksburg, Va., while he was hunting wild turkeys in Spotsylvania county. While hidden in a brush pile and undergrowth, Spicer commenced calling turkeys. Soon a huge hawk alighted on the limb of a tree nearby. While Spicer was waiting for the bird to turn, so as to become a favorable target, the bird suddenly dived toward him. Before the hunter could fire the hawk was upon him. Spicer threw up his left hand to guard his face, and the hawk's talons pierced his hands. Spicer soon bore the hawk to the ground, and getting his knife from his pocket with his free hand, cut the leaders in the hawk's legs. In this condition he succeeded in bringing it to Fredericksburg alive. It is supposed the hawk saw only Spicer's eyes through the brush, and thought him a rabbit or other prey.

Inhospitable to Royalty.

In the course of army maneuvers in a country district Prince Arthur of Connaught and some brother officers lunched on top of a haystack. Presently the farmer appeared and forcibly expressed his opinions on the subject of his haystack being used as a messroom. An orderly hurried up and explained who the officers were, and he added that one of them was Prince Arthur, King George's cousin. The indignant farmer flatly refused to believe him. "Anyway, prince or no prince, they've got to come off my stack," he declared, and, turning to the amused officers, he added: "Dash it all, from the looks of you, the next thing you'd do with the stack would be to eat it!"

Kindergarten in Hotel.

The Vanderbilt hotel in New York has an idea for the benefit of its guests who have children which might well be copied by other hotels. A kindergarten has been established under a trained teacher, using Montessori and other methods. There are toys of every description to keep the youngsters amused, and in the meantime they may be learning something worth while.

Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge.

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptoms of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired worn-out feeling or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Charleroi citizen.

Mrs. W. L. Evans, 104 Lookout avenue, Charleroi, Pa., says: "One of the family works among turpentine and oil and that affected his kidneys. He complained of a heavy, dull ache across his back and was annoyed by irregular passages of the kidney secretions. Several years ago he tried Doan's Kidney Pills, which he got at Piper's Pharmacy and they proved to be the very remedy he needed. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as I know they are a good remedy."

CLEVELAND TO ASSIST UNIONTOWN

As the Charleroi Governors will indirectly receive players from the Detroit Americans for the coming season, so will the Uniontown club receive players from the Cleveland Naps. Charley Hickman, of the Cleveland was in Uniontown during the week and conferred with President Fred G. Paige. Then it was announced that Paige had signed two players on Hickman's recommendation. One of them is Alligresce, a left-handed pitcher. The other is Leading, a catcher. Others may be sent to Uniontown.

President H. A. Mackinnon has made an emphatic denial that the league is a school for the Federal league. As a matter of fact the club stands away up in organized baseball, a fact proven by the records. Rather it would seem that the league if it is any school at all is a school for the American league. But it is denied that it is a school. It is stated that Mackinnon's team at McKeesport is to receive a player or so from the St. Louis Americans.

DULL BRAIN LIKE DULL TOOL

Successful Merchant Tells How He Develops Brightness Among Those Who Work for Him.

It's always the dull tool that causes trouble—and there's seldom any excuse for it. Just as with a dull brain. It mixes up all idea of speed, system and results. It works to the detriment of an entire business, and several dull tools have been known to destroy lucrative trade. Thus a Broadway haberdasher describes several recent failures in his business. "I always attempt to employ the brightest young men obtainable in my business, from office boy to department manager. I have found it pays. Not that I always am successful in finding the right person at the outset. But if a new clerk appears naturally dull, I begin to apply the grindstone of perception to his blunt wits, and nine times out of ten I have a sharp tool in a short time. He becomes a part of my machine that turns out dollars for me with record speed. "If he's interested in the business, but slow to comprehend, I consider him worthy of coaching. I give that clerk personal attention for such a time as he is able to keep pace with the other sharp edges in my employ. He's quick to perceive the interests of the boss, and he naturally tries to get my viewpoint."

DANCE HERE IS ENJOYED EVENT FRIDAY EVENING

What proved to be a neat social function was that of a formal dance that was given Friday evening at Night's Auditorium by a committee of young Charleroi men. Attractively arranged as it was the affair was of such general interest as to bring many from out of town. Nearly a half hundred couples were in attendance. Dancing was from 9 until 2, the Gounod orchestra of Pittsburgh, furnishing the music. The hall was nicely decorated for the occasion. Pompoms were used extensively in the decorations. Toy balloons lent a festive air to the general appearance. The occasion was featured by the dancing of some of the newer dances. When the affair was arranged it was the intention and expectation that Governor and Mrs. J. K. Tener and State Controller and Mrs. Samuel C. Todd would attend, but they were not able to get away from Harrisburg.
